We Apologize—Correct Record

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Booth and child narrowly escaped fatal injury in an accident reported in the Herald last week, in which a Miami negro has been charged with reckless driving, causing an accident, and driving while intoxicated, without a license. He was found with bolts on his person.

Mr. Booth was driving south on S. W. 16th Street just at the Chosen bridge, and was hit by the vehicle coming from the west, and on the south side of the canal. The Booth truck was turned over.

Mr. Booth, an expectant mother, was bruised, but reported not serious. The child, Booth child and father escaped serious injury, were informed. Unintentionally, in taking notes on the story, writing it, and "making a deadline" the word "negro" was inserted after the name "James M. Booth."

For this The Herald apologizes to Mr. and Mrs. Booth and to his family and friends.

Castro Influences Sugar Internationalism

Boat Crash Victims "Improving Nicely"

Reports from the Belle Glade Memorial Hospital are that the four victims of a freight boat crash on the tin canal are "improving very satisfactorily."

Dr. Shirley reports that Donald Bruce Bryan, 5, underwent neuro surgery and his recovery is most gratifying.

James Ronald Bryan, 7, with a badly injured arm is responding very satisfactorily.

Father of the youngsters, James Bryan, suffered severe chest injuries and broken ribs; Paul Miller, pilot of the boat, received multiple face and leg injuries. Both adults are reported doing fine in the hospital.

Mr. Miller reports that he had misinterpreted the boat near the west bank of the tin canal as evidence of suspicion of submergence. He was told by the police that the boat had turned his head momentarily and responded immediately to the companion's shout of "Look Out" to find the boat headed directly at the tree. When asked if he could have hit a submerged object, he said, "We must have hit something, but I can't figure exactly what happened."

The group were on an outing and were proceeding northward in the tin canal. The accident happened, according to reports, about a mile and a half south of the East Shore pump house. Mr. Miller walked to the pump-house and summoned aid for his companions.

The passing motorist who brought the injured to the hospital has been identified as Martin County Agricultural Agent, L. M. Johnson.

Bay Bottom Lands 1100 Of 2400 Acres Bid At $470 Acre

Eight Glades farmers bid in 1100 of the 2381 acre of the Pelican Bay Tract offered by the Internal Improvement Fund in small tracts, so that small farmers might have an opportunity to own some of it.

Some enthusiastic appraisers had caused the Board to set a minimum bid of $435 per acre, but one tract of approximately 75 acres went to $540 per acre; three others went above $500 per acre; majority of other tracts paid on bidders above the minimum price set.

Seventeen tracts went unopened for, and the great question now is "will the Board accept ANY bids?"

The tract includes custard apple land, and deep muck, and some areas of less desirable land, such as is in the frost protection of the Lake Okechobee breezes.

The Board has made available to the public a list of the original tract for airport use by the County, a tract for the City.

City Commission Petitions 11 Board

Belle Glade's City Commission formally resolved a request to the Internal Improvement Fund to retain title to some 214 acres of land in the Pelican Bay Tract for "use of the public," which was a bountiful supply of fresh water always available.

Previously representation had been made to the Board by Representative Emmett Roberts for the City, and the Board with-held the land from public sale.

The resolution pointed out that the tract of land possesses "air, rail, water and highway transportation facilities now, as well as a bountiful supply of fresh water always available."

Editorials

"If you do not think about the future, you cannot have one."—John Galsworthy.

HE'S A CREDIT TO THE UNIFORM HE WORE

Colonel Paul D. Troxler, who retired as District Engineer US Corps of Engineers at Jacksonville, was awarded a Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster recently at a dinner held in his honor at the Thunderbolt Motel in Jacksonville.

The citation cites: "For exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services."

"Colonel Troxler's long and distinguished performance of duty—represents outstanding achievement in the most cherished traditions of the United States Army, and reflects distinct credit upon himself and the military service."

Of course the Colonel's military history was recited and used as a basis of this recognition.

We wish to add particular stress on the last paragraph quoted, for association and experience with the Colonel over several years emphasized the phrase "reflects distinct credit upon himself and the military service."

Being an engineer of ability and having been given authority over matters in which civilians are most concerned—flood control projects—set the stage, but the Colonel's qualities of being human and considerate in his dealings with civilians, made his tour of duty a pleasant remembrance to South Floridians.

We admire the US Engineer Corps as a unit, and it is knowing such men as Colonel Troxler that keeps our pride in our uniform at a high level.

Your Library

Here are two books this week you are sure to enjoy reading.

Pay, Pack and Follow... The Story of My Life... by Ingis Fletcher. The author's talents for recreating historical adventures shine brighter than ever in this story of her own remarkable life. Here, the distinguished author of "Raleigh's Edge" and "Last Wind for Carolina" (Roanoke Hundred) and other novels recalls the people, places and happenings that contributed so richly to her education as a novelist.

High critical acclaim has already greeted Pay, Pack and Follow. Jonathan Daniels, well known editor of the Raleigh News and Observer writes "In place, material and reader's story, Ingis Fletcher's story of her life matches the high quality of her historical fiction. Indeed I suspect as any wrought by the averaging figures, thousands of years ago."

The Far Mountains... Frank O'Rourke. This is a story of the sweeping panoramic views of the turbulent years of 1804-1848 of which the Southwest was the object of heated disputed warfare. Here vividly and authentically depicted are the rule of the powerful and moneyed Spanish families, the slow disintegration of rule. The Western movement of American readers and settlers, and the eventual collapse of Spanish Control. O'Rourke has written a magnificent book that sings of New Mexico and the men who made it.

Bridal Shower

Compliments

Miss Powell

Miss Hannah Powell, bride-to-be, was showered with a lovely array of gifts at a party given for her last Friday evening, July 29, at the Park Shelter.

The gift table, laid with a white cloth, was centered with an attractive arrangement of white ginger lilies surrounded by ixoria and friends and flanked on either side by white tapers. Corages for the honoree, honored guests and hostesses were of varied colors of biblicus.

Gift prices for contest games were won by Jess Lawson and Mildred Richey, who graciously passed them on to Miss Powell.

Miss Powell's exclamations and comments as she opened the gifts were jotted down and following the display read to the group by Miss Charlotte Tyler, one of the hostesses.

Other hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Lonnie Warren, Mrs. Dean Alford and Mrs. Bobby Tyler.

A delicious fruit punch and cake were served with a white and pink color scheme used in arrangements.

Attending were Nancy Hobby, Mary Davis, Charlotte Tyler, Billie Lane, Edith Chaney, Helen Watson, Doris Binkley, Jessie Lawson, Mildred Richey, Paula Richey, Norma J. Prentiss, Carolyn Rashley, Jane Rashley, Annie Powell, Mary Ann Miller, Lois Lane, Grace Stevens, Jane Betts, Alice Ridgion, Jess Lawson, Mildred Richey, Kathleen Livingston and Verda Mathewson.
